CHAIRMAN WORKING TO MAKE FAIR A SUCCESS

If the fall stock fair at Comanche is not a success it will not be the fault of the chairmen of the live stock departments, who are at work trying to get everything ready to make a good showing.

Mr. Gille, who has charge of the poultry, has called on those who are interested in thorough-bred chickens to come and see him and arrange for an exhibit at the fair.

Mr. Holloway, of the milk stock department and Mr. Miller who is in charge of the beef stock display, are each calling on all who are interested in the breeding of that particular kind of cattle to consult with them and prepare one or more animals for the exhibit.

There is to be at least one big auction of pure-bred short horn cattle during the fair, and there will be buyers here from many different sections very likely, if the sale is properly advertised. Just what is being done in the way of financing the fair we have not been informed, but there is not much time to spare and the advertising committee will have something to do in getting the enterprise before the public and enlisting the interest that such an affair as this deserves and must have to make it a success.

The Chief hopes to have something interesting to report by next week. Meanwhile let the chairmen push their particular departments of work and bring about as much co-operation as possible over the county. This is a county fair and is not for the benefit of the city of Comanche alone.

Poor Old Nebraska

(By Walt Mason)

Nebraska's eyes are tearful, there's sorrow in her marts, her sons pretend they're cheerful, but they have aching hearts. Oh, still her hogs may fatten, her steers do passing well, from Broken Bow to Stratton, from Hastings to Odell; she still may harvest glory through fresh and salted meat, and live in song and story by raising corn and wheat; her bards may gain the bacon, her healers bring back health, but Bryan has forsaken that sad-eyed commonwealth. There other living wonders may dance around and sing, and with their verbal thunders make all the welkins ring; the state may always nourish strong men whose aims are high, boy orators may flourish and fade away and die; and Warwicks oft may ramble athwart the pleasant scene, and commoners may gambol upon the Lincoln green; the future is uncharted, we know not what may be, but Bryan has departed, alas and hully chee! No home's so well defended it has no vacant chair, no flock so well attended, but one dead lamb is there. From York to Weeping Water Nebraska feels bereaved, and every son and daughter is sore and deeply peeved; men drink the bitter mixture and say the fact's a crime, for William seemed a fixture, a landmark for all time. The altars all are shaken, and rent the temple's dome, for Bryan has forsaken his old Nebraska home.

J. DOSS MILLER'S CALL

While you are paying up in September, the official "pay-up" month, don't forget the newspaper. We are included in the game, but don't want it to be a one-sided affiar. Pay your subscription and pay it now. The date on your paper will tell you when your subscription expires. Look at it. If it says "Sept. 21" that means the year 1921. If it says "22" that means 1922. We only print the month and the year on the label, never the day of the month. Do you get us?

Sheriff Lewis Marshall has been to the Terrell insane asylum again, not for treatment, but to convey George Cooper who was adjudged of unsound mind. Mr. Marshall returned home Wednesday evening.

Mr. Allen A. McKimmey has received a telegram notifying him that the remains of his brother, Lieut. John C. McKimmey, one of the Comanche boys who went across to fight for his flag and was killed in battle, had arrived at Hoboken. Lieut. McKimmey was a member of Co. "L" 141 Inf., 3rd Bat. and enlisted from A. & M. College where he was in school.

The county institute will begin Monday, Sept. 5, for a session of five days.

It is earnestly desired that all be ready for the opening and begin with their classes in order to have a fair show for promotion.

The line between the east ward school and the west ward school will remain the same as it was last year, which was the street running from the railroad north, passing along the street just east of the Methodist church.

I have had application from several worthy boys for places where they can do the home work for their board. Persons desiring such boys can be supplied if they will notify me of their desires. J. B. LAYNE, Supt.

J. W. (Uncle Jim) Cunningham returned last week from Whitney where he attended the funeral of his stepson, Dillard Nuckols, who died at Houston Wednesday and was buried the following day. Mr. Nickols had started from Whitney to Galveston in his car and when he reached Houston was taken sick and had to go to the hospital for an operation, from which he did not recover. He was 41 years and ten months of age and leaves besides his mother and two brothers, William and Edwin, who were with him when he died, a wife and three sons. We extend our most heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. Cunningham and the two surviving boys in the loss of their dear son and brother, and the wife and fatherless children in their deep bereavement.

TO THE BREEDERS OF MILK CATTLE

As manager for the exhibition of the cattle of the milk type for the Comanche fall fair, I am issuing this call for all those interested in showing cattle of this variety to report to me personally or by mail that some idea may be had as to the number and arrangements necessary to provide room for them.

No industry is more important to the small farmer in Comanche county than the improvement of the type of milk stock, and nothing so encourages the industry as an exhibition of fine specimens of the breed.

More and more it is appearing to the business man and the small farmer of real foresight that in the future old methods of farming must give way to the diversification which will include the milk cow and the well bred hen in the program. Let me hear from you. R. F. HOLLOWAY.

Hon. A. L. McDaniel is back from Austin where he attended the two special sessions of the legislature. He was one of the "retrenchers" and if they hal all stood as firm as he did for a reduction of expenses the tax rate this year could have been materially reduced. He called on the Chief Wednesday and gave us a graphic account of what transpired down there. Mr. McDaniel said he was sorry the majority in the lower house did not stand solidly till the end for the reduction in the salaries of university professors as the house majority felt the tax-payers were entitled to. But Speaker Thomas stood in with the university crowd for the higher salaries and the efforts of the "retrenchers" were to a considerable extent thwarted. Mr. McDaniel was true to the people all the way through and will receive the plaudit, "well done, good and faithful servant."

Mrs. Lon Boynton and infant daughter, Josephine Pearl, will leave to-morrow for Walters, Okla., where they will probably reside permanently, Mr. Boynton being on a trade there for a newspaper. The latter has been in Walters for several weeks trying to close up the deal and hopes to get everything going soon. Roy Young is with him and will be co-proprietor of the paper if the deal is finally consummated.

Mr. Henry Moore was elected cashier of the First State Bank of Comanche to succeed E. E. Anthony who was elected to the position of president to succeed W. T. Powers, deceased. Mr. Moore will perform these new duties while retaining his position as one of the vice-presidents of the institution, Mr. John Tate being the other one. Mr. Anthony, the new president, organized the First State Bank and has been connected with it from its beginning. It is in good condition as shown by its last published statement, and its steady growth is in keeping with the growing importance of Comanche as a business point.

M. P. Cain and daughter, Claudie May, of Duster, stopped over in Comanche a couple of days visiting friends, on their way to Coleman. Mr. Cain will have charge of the gravel pit for Burks, Firmin & Hart on their new road contract in that county.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson of Sipe Springs stopped over in Comanche a few days this week to visit friends and relatives before going to their new home in Graham. Miss Dell Wilson, who is now visiting her sister, Mrs. J. R. Holman in Brownwood, will join the mat Graham. We regret to lose these good people from our county. They have lived here many years and are among our best and most highly esteemed citizens.

FAMOUS SCENIC ARTIST IS NOW IN COMANCHE

Artistic talent always commands attention and admiration wherever it is displayed, and hence the work of Dad Zelno, that he is doing in Comanche is receiving most flattering comment from those who appreciate high class painting and decorating. Like all real artists, Dad doesn't have to study on what he is doing—it just comes natural. But he generally uses his left hand and his designs are something out of the ordinary, rendering him in many respects what he claims to be, "the artist that's different." Dad has been doing some artistic work in Bob & Rog's Cafe, on the east side of the square, where so many people are accustomed to go when hungry and where they always find a most up-to-date service. Besides the fine painting on the inside, making this one of the most inviting and attractive cafes in this part of Texas, Dad has put nice signs on the windows that show beautiful design and skillful execution.

Bob and Rog are all the time adding something worth while to their popular eating house, and they do not hesitate to say that when Dad gets through they will have one of the loveliest eating places in Texas. They invite their many friends to step in and watch Dad as he wields the brush and brings out the different colors in bold relief in the scenes he paints. Different business houses are having their advertisements painted in nice arrangement around the picture on the wall, and they are each rare specimens of artistic skill.

Dad has a book of designs showing different styles of work he has done and can do, and he has done work in some of the largest theaters in the country. He can do any kind of painting and it is interesting to watch him. He has been everywhere and knows people in every town in Texas as well as many other states where he has found demand for his high-class work. If you have any sign work to be done, or want any decorating that will be "a thing of beauty and a joy forever," you had better get Dad Zelno hold of it while he is in Comanche. Go around to Bob and Rog's Cafe and watch him a little while and see what a real artist can do with a brush and paint.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Redden, Mesdames S. A. Duke, M. S. Carter, May Whaley and Misses Mattie Redden, Alice Carter and Lottie Paine, and Mr. Ben Carter all of De Leon, attended the play, "Cinderella in Flowerland" at the high school auditorium last week.

Miss Louise Roberson left Wednesday for Dallas to visit her sister, Mrs. Williams, nee Alma Roberson. From there she will go to McKinney to visit her brother, Otho.

A son of Milas Williford about 14 years of age was painfully injured by a horse falling on him near the southeast corner of the square Saturday. He is getting all right again.

Messrs. Stacy Elms, A. P. Mercer and Uncle Bob Hamilton are visiting in Austin this week.

A SAD DEATH.

A most unfortunate tragedy occurred near Lamkin Monday, Mrs. Bostick, who had recently been released from the insame asylum being the victim. She was thought to have recovered her mental balance, and neighbors who were at her home Sunday evening said she seemed to be perfectly normal. They were evidently mistaken for the following day, when she found herself alone she saturated her clothes with coal oil and touched a match to them. When she was discovered to be in flames it was too late to save her life. Her family and friends have the most profund sympathy of many neighbors and acquaintances in their deep bereavement.

TRAVELERS HOTEL TO BE SOLD HERE SEPTEMBER 6

(De Leon Free Press)

Notice is appearing in this paper to the effect that the Travelers Hotel, this city, will be sold at public auction at Comanche on September 6 by Attorney A. E. Hampton, named as trustee, acting for the Farmers & Merchants National Bank, Guaranty State Bank, First State Bank, T. J. Williams of Comanche, W. H. Williams, B. W. Ayers and W. C. Streety.

The Travelers Hotel, or De Leon Hotel Company, was a stock company organized during the boom days and paid for largely by local capital, there being many small investors.

THE PAY-UP CAMPAIGN

During the month of Septemer the merchants of Comanche will expect every person to adjust his accounts. The object of this campaign is to clear the books of all past due accounts and start out "new." If you owe an account that is past due, it is your duty to pay up. If you are unable to pay at the present time, do not fail to call on the merchant you owe, and make arrangements with him to pay as soon as possible. He will arrange for you to pay him in installments until the account is paid in full, or he might take your note.

Every person will have the opportunity during the next thirty days to clear their accounts everywhere. There will be many who will take advantage of this opportunity and get square. There are a few who wont. Those WHO DO NOT TRY TO ADJUST THEIR ACCOUNTS, will not be entitled to credit anywhere. After October the first every merchant will go over his books, and pick out the names of those who failed to make arrangements about their accounts during the Pay-Up Month Campaign, and turn them into the Business Men's Association, where all the lists will be made into one large list, and a copy will be given to each merchant. Only the names of persons who refused to adjust their accounts during the month of September will appear on this list, and they will be placed STRICTLY UPON A CASH BASIS.

Let's all get square and make our credit good everywhere.

A SYMPATHETIC SHOWER

Mrs. Walter Durham, who recently lost her home and household effects by fire, received a great surprise Wednesday afternoon. Upon Mrs. Blatherwick suggesting to some of her friends that a miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Walter Durham would be a great help to her as well as give them a chance to show their true friendship in so distressing a time, Mesdames Day Emory, M. K. Witt and John Jay began phoning to mutual friends of Mrs. Durham and at the appointed hour of three, some 110 or 115 of them called at the home of Mrs. Nugent Durham where Mrs. Walter Durham was spending the day and after a short talk from Mrs. E. E. Anthony, presented her with many pretty and useful household articles. Refreshing punch was served during the afternoon.

Mrs, Z. T. Hamilton and son, Z. T. Jr., of Brownwood are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Layne. Mr. Hamilton came over and spent Sunday with them.

DURHAM RESIDENCE BURNED EARLY SATURDAY MORNING

While Mr. Walter Durham, cashier of the First National Bank, was away last week, enjoying a pleasant vacation with his family at a noted resort, his beautiful home on North Main street, three blocks west of the upblic square, was being consumed by the flames. The fire occurred about three oclock last Saturday morning and was under good headway when first discovered and the alarm was turned in. The house and all the contents were burned. The fire company did good work in saving the residences on either side that were only slightly damaged by the blaze.

Mr. Durham and family came in Saturday evening and did not know until they had reached the public square that their home had been destroyed only that morning. It was a severe shock to them, as they had a lovely home and among their household things were many articles that money could not buy and that it will be impossible to replace. Their pecuniary loss will be several thousands of dollars as their beautiful shrubbery is killed that it has taken many years to grow, and their total insurance was only $3,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Durham have the sympathy of their scores of friends in their loss. Nothing is known as to the origin of the fire.

Say a good word for your town. A town that is not worth brgging on is not worth living in, and a person that can't say something in praise of the town where he is living ought to make arrangements to move. Boost your home town.

The playette, "Cinderella in Flowerland," given at the high school auditorium Thursday night, Aug. 25, for the benefit of the Parent-Teacher Association was quite a treat to those present and Miss Myrtle Paine deserves a great deal of credit for having been able to train so many children in such a short time. There were 41 children in the play who played their parts well, and the preparation of the entertainment, with so many tots in cast, required the exercise of much patience as well as tact and resolution. Miss Paine has had the interests of the children at heart and took great care in training them, and their costumes were especially attractive and altogether suited to the flowerland they represented. The Parent-Teacher Association and the public generally are deeply indebted to Miss Paine for her work. The receipts of the evening were about $75.

Gatesville Ball Team Given Banquet at Close of Season

(Gatesville Messenger)

The baseball season for 1921 closed in Gatesville Tuesday evening with a banquet in honor of the ball boys and those who had promoted and managed the team, which was attended by more than one hundred invited guests, and throughout the evening the spirit of enthusiasm that has characterized the baseball fans manifested itself to a degree seldom reached even on occasions when good will, good cheer and felicitations are expected to flow freely. It was brought out that Gatesville had played thirty-two games, won twenty-two and lost ten. That out of the last eleven games played, she had won ten. The team has been liberally supported in every way and the season is closed with a clean sheet financially. One of the most prominent newspaper men in Texas, and one in a position to know whereof he spoke, was quoted as saying the Gatesville baseball club was known all over the state. Without an exception the players yet in the city expressed deep appreciation of Gatesville, her people, and were willing if wanted to come back another season.

Will Seek to Have Prohibition Laws Made More Liberal

Washington, Aug. 25.—Cheered by their first important victory in years, anti-prohibitionists in congress, and those who believe in a less drastic enforcement of the eighteenth amendment, are organizing to contend for a liberalization of the prohibition laws.

The victory of the "liberals" was the successful filibuster against the anti-beer bill in the senate, which prevented enactment of that measure before the recess, and threatens to defer final action on it for some weeks after congress is again in session.

In the meantime the issue is to be kept alive, and the opponents of the bill will line up their forces for further struggle. Popular support will be sought with the argument that the drys are endeavoring to break down the constitution, and are endeavoring to curtail personal liberties to an extent far beyond the expectations of those who put prohibition in the consitution.

Support Among Drys.

The constitutional argument has had the effect of enlisting the support of some of the less radical among the drys, and is counted upon to gain favor in the country at large. Influential elements of both parties, in the senate at least, are opposed to the beer bill, and the success of the filibuster was possible only through the collaboration of both sides of the chamber. The psychology of having proved the vulnerability of the prohibition ranks is counted upon also as an asset by the wets.

The result of the efforts to be put forth, it is hoped, will be at least a saner interpretation of the eighteenth amendment, with the possible legalization of drinks of small alcoholic content, like beer and light wines. There is no intention to try to bring back distilled spirits or the saloon.

Senators who led the filibuster assert that liquor has shown itself to be a live issue, and that it will continue to be an issue unless there is liberalization. Drys will find it wise to adopt this view, they hold, for otherwise enforcement is impossible.

Open Season For Doves Begins On Thursday, Sept. 1

The open season for dove hunting in Texas began Thursday, September 1, and continues until December 15. Game Commissioner W. W. Boyd has instructed his deputies throughout the state to be strict in law enforcement this season, since the least leniency may mean the extermination of doves in Texas.

Many doves throughout the state are still nesting during September, and too general killing of older birds frequently results in starvation of nestlings or loss of eggs in nests. Yet if the season were opened later, the doves of northern Texas would migrate southward before the hunters could hunt them. The solution which will probably finally be reached will divide Texas into zones having different open seasons, depending on the dates marking the close of nesting and the time of migration.

Game Commissioner Boyd has notified the wardens throughout the state that the term "dove" includes the common turtle dove, or mourning dove, distributed throughout Texas; the very abundant white winged dove, summering in southern Texas and rapidly spreading northward to central Texas; the rare white fronted dove of the lower Rio Grande; and the three little doves, the Inca dove of southern and central Texas, and the southern ground dove of eastern and southeastern Texas coast regions, and the Mexican ground dove of semi-arid southern and south-central Texas.

There is no open season on wild pigeons, both the red bellied pigeon of the lower Rio Grande and the band tailed pigeon of the trans-Pecos country being protected.

The hunting season on wild ducks, geese, brant, mud hens or coots, rails, or marsh hens, jacksnipe or Wilson's snipe, black bellied or golden plover, and yellowlegs does not open until October 16; on male deer, November 1; on quail, partridges and Mexican pheasants or chachalacas, December 1; and on wild turkey gobblers, March 1 (except in twenty-nine southwestern counties, where it opens November 1).

There is a permanent closed season on antelope, woodcock, woodchucks or summer ducks, and prairie chickens at the present time. To kill any protected bird or any game bird having a later open season during the much earlier dove hunting season subjects the offender to arrest and fine by federal and state authorities.

It is not necessary for Texans to have a hunting license unless they hunt in a county where they do not live, in which case a license, costing $2, must be obtained from the county clerk, a deputy game commissioner or game warden, a sporting goods or hardware store, or direct from the game, fish or oyster commissioner at Austin. People not living in Texas must obtain a nonresident license, which costs $15.

It is unlawful to hunt with trap, net, dynamite or by any means other than with a gun, not larger than tenguage, fired from the shoulder. Not more than fifteen doves can be killed in any one day and not more than seventy-five dead game birds can be possessed or shipped at any one time. It is also illegal to hunt from a power boat, a sail boat or an aeroplane, and it is unlawful to buy or sell game, to pay another to hunt, be paid for hunting, to carry or ship game home without an affidavit, or to ship to a taxidermist without a permit from the game commissioner or one of his deputies.

Intolerance is the besetting sin of a too highly centered civilization, the inevitable blind companion o fa culture nurtured on the frail narrowness of human nature. More social disorder is due to intolerance than probably any other cause; more injustice is done through the blindness that strikes eyes possibly well trained otherwise. The failure to view from other angles than patterned bigotry is a potent cause of disorder; it is the leech that sickens the tap root of fraternalism.—Austin Statesman.

Camels are made for Men who Think for Themselves

Such folks know real quality—and DEMAND it.

They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy—because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTY AFTERTASTE.

Like every man who does his own thinking, you want fine tobacco in your cigarettes. You'll find it in Camels.

And, mind you, no flashy package just for show. No extra wrappers! No costly frills! These things don't improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons.

But QUALITY! Listen! That's CAMELS!

Muskogee Woman Relieved of 15 Years Trouble By Taking Tanlac

"Tanlac has relieved me of a stomach trouble that made my life miserable for fifteen or twenty years," said Mrs. Margaret C. Grider, 906 Elgin Ave., Muskogee, Okla.

"Nothing agreed with me, and the gas which formed on my stomach bloated me up so that I suffered agony for hours. There was a pressure around my heart that almost took my breath away. I was so nervous and restless any unusual noise almost drove me distracted and I scarcely ever got a good night's sleep. I was so weak and run down I could not do anything hardly, but would just move about the house like I was half dead. I used every medicine I ever heard of, but nothing did me any good and I had almost given up hope of ever getting well.

"But after I got Tanlac I began to mend from the very start. My appetite soon became ravenous and I began to eat things I hadn't dared touch in a long time. I have just finished my sixth bottle and haven't felt better in years, I sleep like a child, wake up refreshed and have strength to do my housework with ease. I always keep Tanlac on hand to take when I get to feeling a little bad, and it never fails to put me on the right road again. Tanlac is just grand."

Tanlac is sold in Comanche by the Hamilton Drug Co. and leading druggists. adv.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. TIMELY THOUGHTS FOR THE WISE TO PONDER

(Albany News)

Man is a wonderful creature, intelligent, wise; next to God he is the greatest; nature made him so, and he has proven to be a great builder, has given much time and attention to law and reforms, but there is one thing that he has never done, and he never will, and that is to change human nature. The world has had a time building schools and churches, and religious shrines, and the preachment of the moral code to wean man away from the jungle and the cave, but after all these centuries of culture and polish, he is still, in most of instances, only a polished devil. There is a craze in the world today to remove all temptation, but we want to say that it is a false preachment; the gutter snipe and the old red-nosed toper, and the prostitute who makes merchandise of her body, each of them is an example which teaches the race the value of sobriety and probity, and creates in the mind a revulsion against these evils. Virtue is the rarest jewel in the crown of womanhood, and the most costly, and for the reason that sexual lust is a dangerous tempter, and the hardest foe to conquer. The lovliest flower that creation ever fashioned is a chaste woman—and men and devils and angels do her bidding—the status of society, whether clean or dirty, answer her beck and call. Man is stronger than woman, mentally and physically, but nature placed upon her brow the moral crown, that feminine fibre of purity, and whether the race sinks down to hell or stands upon a high plane—it's up to the woman. And another thing, woman, don't you get it into your head that man can look upon your nakedness with unconcern; the modern dress is a match in a powder house, flaunting the red flag in the face of a beast; shapely limbs and heaving breasts kindle the fire of lust in the male, and whether he be pope or priest, preacher or layman, when fires of passion burn in his being—he's still an animal. Religious and moral training smoothes over and smothers and tames these passions, has pulled him out of the jungle and given him a higher concept of life, and taught him the beautiful lessons of virtue, but withal, old man nature is still there, unchanged. And say, woman, don't you think that you can put on a nude show, and put this animal man in a proper attitude o fmind for a prayer meeting service. Do we think that virtue is all gone? No, no, there are millions and multiplied millions of men and women whose skirts are clean, without spot or blemish, but the tendency of modern dress is dangerous. An American lady touring Europe, wrote a letter home the other day, telling of her visit to a swell cafe in the city of Paris, at which place nude women played on the screen for the entertainment of the guests, and she stated that the bad part of this vulgar show, a large per cent were Americans. When you tamper with this lust, you are playing with fire, and we think that it is time for people to speak out and talk plain., and that's what we are doing, just calling a spade a spade. Why, at these modern bathing pools, the apparel worn for this delightful exercise is not even a good excuse to hide one's nakedness. They used to wear skirts, but in this fashionable age they have been discarded, and the scarcity, or shortness of the panties makes one wonder, and the breasts are encased in lace pockets. Where are we going folks, has modern fashion slain lust? Illicit intercourse is the vilest of all sins, and those who tamper with it, male or female, but more especially female, can fall lower in the scale, go down to the very lowest depth, and wallow in the mire of hell—even a taint of suspicion of it blights the fragrant human flower. David, the man after God's own heart, got caught in the trap, violated the law of chastity, and dipped his finger in innocent human blood. Sampson, the strong man, tampered with soiled skirts, and lost his estate. Today the gaudy herd enthrones the harlot, and behind the footlights the rustle of her dirty skirts draws the ignorant mob.

THIS YOUNG MOTHER

Tells Childless Women What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Her

Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are very fond of children and for a considerable time after we married I feared I would not have any owing to my weak condition. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I have a nice strong healthy baby girl. I can honestly say that I did not suffer much more when my baby was born than I used to suffer with my periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound years ago. I give all the credit to your medicine and shall always recommend it very highly."—Mrs. H. H. JANSSEN, Millston, Wisconsin.

How can women who are weak and sickly expect or hope to become mothers of healthy children? Their first duty is to themselves. They should overcome the derangement or debility that is dragging them down, and strengthen the entire system, as did Mrs. Janssen, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and then they will be in a position to give their children the blessing of a good constitution.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried every thing I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since . . . I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too.

SOMEBODY HAS FAITH IN OIL SITUATION IN CORYELL CO.

(Gatesville Messenger)

County Clerk J. H. Milner received a few days since one of the largest instruments ever recorded in Coryell county, both in number of pages and consideration, the latter being $750,000 The instrument referred to is a deed of trust on oil and gas leases in Coryell and adjoining counties. The cost alone of recording this instrument was $35. Here is evidence in a large way that somebody has faith in the future oil possibilities of Coryell county and is willing to spend their money to preserve their right to try it out again in the future.

PERSONS WARNS HOUSE OF WORLD CONFLICT

London, Aug. 27.—Premier Lloyd George, in a speech at Barnsley this afternoon, again warned Ireland that Great Britian never would tolerate separation from the empire.

"We cannot countenance separation," said the Premier. "If we have a severance, it will lead to the most cruel and most savage war that Ireland ever has seen. Help would be raised from all the world to assist the parties fighting the battle."

The Premier indicated his determination to prevent an open break. He said that "England could not witness civil war of that kind at its own door which would involve the people of the British empire and other countries as well."

DO YOU LOVE BOYS AND GIRLS?

If you love boy and girl life, hopes and ambitions, won't you read the following story:

During the coming year, due to the short crops and small amount of cotton picking and other work, a number of worthy girls and boys of the state will need assistance if they are enabled to pursue their studies even in in high school. In one school alone it will be necessary to provide for forty students who are entirely without funds and dependent upon their own labors and assistance of friends, A much larger number of other students will need one-third to one-half of their expenses met by friendly aid.

If these earnest, high spirited boys and girls are to derive the full return for their labors and make the best of the educational opportunities offered them by the state and other institutions, their friends and those of the institutions should raise a large fund by October 1.

To secure aid for the boys and girls of the state who wish to push forward to the highest possible mark of efficiency and good citizenship is the purpose of the Student Aid Association.

A number of people in many of the large cities are already contributing liberally to this fund, but more will be needed this year.

Who will be leaders of clubs for contributing or raising amounts for $10, $25, $50, $100 and up to $500, naming the institution to whose aid fund your contribution is to go.

Have yo ua mother or any other loved one or friend whom you will honor by giving a scholarship to some girl or boy?

BE PATIENT WITH THE CHILDREN

They are such tiny feet!
They have gone such a little way to meet
The years which are required to break
Their steps to evenness, and make Them go
More sure and slow.

They are such little hands!
Be kind—things are so new, and life but stands
A step beyond the doorway. All around
Ne wdays have found
Such tempting things to shine upon; and so
The hands are tempted oft, you know.

They are such fond, clear eyes,
That widen to surprise
At every turn! They are so often held
To sun or showers—showers soon dispelled
By looking in our face,
Love asks for such, much grace.

They are such fair, frail gifts!
Uncertain as the rifts
Of light that lie along the sky—
They may not be here by and by,
Give them not love, but more, above
And harder—patience with the love.

BIG FOOTBALL GAMES PART OF FAIR PROGRAM

Some of the Most Important Contests of 1921 Will Grace New Stadium

That army of hectic partisans generally spoken of as football fans are not going to be disappointed this year with the layout of games that will open the new Athletic Stadium at the State Fair of Texas. The season of 1921—Dallas, October 8 to 23—will see four of the most bitter contests in the history of the State.

In the first game, on Dallas Day, the Southern Methodist University eleven will try to turn back the Farmers from A. & M. College. On October 15 the Baylor University Bears are going to hang into the Boston College team. On October 21 S. M. M. will come into the arena again, to defend the field against Austin College. On October 22 the University of Texas will try conclusions with Vanderbilt University, of Nashville. Tenn.

The first contest is one of standing importance in Texas. The Farmers barely beat the Mustangs last year. Baylor is meeting one of the greatest teams of the East in Boston, but the Bears are reported to have a squad of sensational youngsters. When the S. M. U. Mustangs meet Austin College they'll have their hands full, as this team will be composed of the veterans who ran wild against all opposition the latter part of 1920. Of course everybody knows what to expect of Texas and Vanderbilt, as they always have great football teams.

The new stadium will be in beautiful condition for the big games. It is practically complete as to construction, and the playing field has rounded out in great shape.

The Chautauqua Guarantee

(From the Salem, Ind., Press)

From all we can learn Salem will have no chautauqua next year. Salem refused to guarantee the entertainers against loss. The majority of Salem citizens are not opposed to chautauquas. But the plan of guaranteeing chautauqua promoters against loss is getting to be a chestnut that still retains the burr.

Just why a chautauqua should receive a guarantee against loss is, and always has been, beyond our comprehension. Other forms of entertainment and amusement enter a town or city, rent the grounds and take a chance on the population and weather, and chautauquas should be compelled to do the same. Of course as long as the people of a community can be hypnotized or talked into putting up a guarantee, chautauquas will demand it. No doubt any other business would do the same provided they could put it across.

Frankly we believe our business men are on the right track. When a few other communities join with us and refuse to guarantee chautauquas against loss, that drawback to an otherwise popular entertainment will be done away with, for chautauquas are here to stay, and they are a money making proposition, guarantee or no guarantee. Anyhow a business that can't stand on its own legs ought to go under.

... STATE UNIVERSITY NOT NEED A UNIVERSITY

Austin, Aug. 24.—Opposition to [illegible] State University was voiced this morning by A. B. Curtis of Tarrant in the House of Representatives during his speech of forty-five minutes against adoption of the free conference committee report on the educational bill.

Curtis said that in his opinion "there ought not to be a real university supported by the state," but instead there "ought to be only a state college for undergraduate training."

After undergraduate training has been given in the college, Curtis would have Texas students go to Harvard or some other university, he said. He was speaking against the report because, he declared, it allowed too high salaries for university professors, and instead he contended for the original house bill as amended, which reduced salaries of university professors to the level of those paid in colleges.

Beginning his speech, Curtis said he did not believe he would fairly represent the people of Fort Worth and Tarrant county, if he did not fight the adoption of the committee report because, he said, he had been instructed by them to keep appropriations down.

"As far as I am concerned," he declared, "I am going to stay here until icicles fall from the capitol building before I will agree to a conference committee report that does not reduce salaries of the faculty of the University of Texas in accordance with the wishes of the house majority."

BUSINESS CONDITIONS.

It is certainly gratifying to all of us to know that business conditions are steadily improving, and no matter how much the loss sustained by the people, especially the farmers of the south, through the "deflation" policies of the federal reserve board that sent prices zigzagging downward until they touched rock bottom, we are glad to know that everything indicates a gradual return to prosperity in the country.

The Waco Times-Herald correctly contends that had it not been for the arbitrary power exercised by the federal reserve board and the delay in effecting a permanent peace with Germany this country "would now be in the midst of an era of prosperity such as the world has never known. The truth is the federal reserve board saw things on a high level and money was worth less, while labor and all kinds of commodities were worth more, than ever before known in times of peace here or anywhre else. Had such things continued all the people would have been out of debt in a very few years, and what would the big money-lenders have done then? True, speculation was running high, and money was being loaned, for there was plenty of it, but what if it was? We had just gone through a great world war and our resources had come out unimpaired. We had the whole world owing us, and what they owed was enough to discharge all our costs for the war. We could have continued indefinitely to supply the world with food and kept them indebted to us for all time to come, and our people could have had all they needed at home.

But the federal reserve board said things must change, and proceeded to change them. The big eastern financiers so willed it, and the board obeyed their will. But we are now recovering from the forced slump. We can only rejoice that we have passed through the crisis and are improving. The only thing we ought to do is to take the power of controlling the nation's finances out of the hands of the group now exercising arbitrary control and put it back in the hands of the people themselves. Then the "deflation" act could not be repeated.

A dispatch from Austin says Governor Neff has been invited by the American Legion to address their convention on its opening day at El Paso. There are many members of the Legion, to say nothing of those on the outside, who are wondering how it is that they would invite a man to address them who lived 35 years and didn't know his own age until the time came to register for service in the war, and then had to go and ask his ma.

The management of the County Fair in our neighboring county of Hamilton are to be commended for the enterprise they have shown in "putting over" this great event that takes place the 14th, 15th and 16th of this month. They have not gotten out a premium list in the ordinary form, but have printed and circulated a regular eight-papeg paper called the "Hamilton County Fair" setting forth the many attractions provided, and giving all information concerning same. They are spending some money advertising the fair, which shows they have something worth while and have confidence in the success of the affair. They know that anything that has merit to it is worth advertising, and they also know that nothing of that character was ever a success without advertising, hence they are pursuing the only wise course and investing liberally in advertising, not only in the county paper but in other ways such as above mentioned. The issue of their special fair paper contains group pictures of different "Boys clubs" in the county, also some photos of fine cattle that will be entered for prizes in the stock exhibits. We congratulate the fair management and the citizens of Hamilton who are backing up the committees who have the undertaking in hand.

We have just received another batch of free publicity dope from one of our great educational institutions. It is amazing the presumtion of the publicity directors. They take the editors of the weekly papers to be a lot of simlinheads and with brazen effrontery send out their "dope" marked "released for publication" after a certain date.

The railroad brotherhoods are now considering a strike. If they would get down to business for at least two months and think about something besides the question of an increase of wages, thus affording at least some variety in the program that has been followed since son-in-law McAdoo quit playing the brotherhoods for votes, it would be quite a relief to the general public, and would create more sympathy for organized labor. They may be entitled to more money than they are getting for their work, but everybody is suffering now and trying to get straightened out. To do this they are working harder and economizing, and are not specially engaged in "keeping up the American standard of living." Of course Gompers, Lewis, and the other leaders who are drawing a fat salary and living in grand style will favor keeping up the agitation for higher wages, and will encourage a strike or anything else that they can star in. It's their salvation. They are shrewd politicians, and are in the same class with Wayne B. Wheeler and Fanaticuss Webb, of the Anti-Saloon League.

LIQUOR QUESTION IN POLITICS.

If there ever was at time in the history of our country when there was the remotest prospect of the liquor question being taken out of politics, that time is not now; for it seems that the question is just being brought to the front as one of the real live issues of the day.

There is no claim by anyone that the old-time saloon is longer an issue; no one ever cared anything about the saloon as an institution except those who profited by it. But the saloon question and the liquor question are entirely separate and distinct. The one involves the simple sale of a commodity, and the other the individual use of the article, though the manufacture for the purpose of sale is involved in both. The method of dealing with the use of the article manufactured is where the question becomes a politcal one, and gives promise of being an issue in every campaign for all time to come.

Texas at one time, under the local option system, where the people of each community had a voice, seemed about to have the question permanently settled as a disturbing issue in state affairs, but when prohibition was placed in the constitution and no more was the manufacture and sale of liquor for beverage purposes to be permitted in the state, then the enforcement of the law of course was a matter that came forward for consideration. The state could have dealt with it and peace and good order would have prevailed had people been permitted to go outside the state and get liquor for their own individual use. There would have been but little if any bootlegging of whiskey under those circumstances, for the inducement of big profits would not have been offered to anyone to engage in the illicit traffic. We would have reduced intemperance, gotten rid of the saloons, and our jails would not have been filled with criminals as they have been during the past few years.

But the political reformers could not stop with that; without taking into account the unsettled conditions that attended the world war, they rushed national prohibition upon us without giving the people any opportunity for discussion of it, and without permitting the people to vote their sentiments as the people of a free country should be allowed to do, and the result is instead of helping the cause of temperance and cultivating a respect for law, they have filled the country with bootleggers and transformed people into criminals with taxes piling up and the burdens of government increasing.

But the worst of it is, the liquor question has been forced upon us with no chance to ever get it settled. It is in politics to stay.

THE UNIVERSITY AND ECONOMY.

Hon. Lee J. Rountree, editor of the Bryan Eagle and member of the Texas house of representatives, has been writing articles to the Dallas News regretting the sentiment that seemed to prevail in that branch of the legislature in favor of cutting salaries of professors in the state university, and he urges a constitutional amendment fixing a special tax to be collected for the maintenance of that institution.

Mr. Rountree, like all who have favored spending immense sums for the university, refers often to the constitution which says Texas shall maintain a university of the "first class" and thinks by that they are justified in opening up the state treasury and telling the managers of that institution to "help themselves" to as much as they want. They forget that with the provision calling for a "university of the first class" there is also provided a means to maintain such a school; but the trouble is the board of regents and others disregarded the plain provisions of the constitution as to the revenues for the support of the university and have reached their hands into the state treasury in a manner never contemplated by the fathers who had in mind the establishment of an institution of that kind.

Representative Curtis of Fort Worth, with a deep concern for the tax-burdened people of the state, says Texas does not need the university, and he is correct. The argument that we ought to keep the money in Texas and provide an institution here at home for the youth of Texas who want a higher education sounds fine, but what is there in it to the great body of men and women who pay the taxes to keep up such an institution? Why should the tax-payers be burdened with maintaining such an institution that calls for the expenditure of millions of money each year, when nine-tenths of the boys and girls of Texas never see inside of it. Why not let those seeking a higher education go to Harvard or Yale, and pay their own expenses? It costs a young man from $500 to $1,000 a year in addition to what the state pays him to attend the state university, and nobody outside of Austin gets any benefit from this expenditure. We do not see how it is saving anybody any money to maintain a lot of porfessors down there at big salaries and build a lot of fine buildiugs just to have the name of running a big school.

This thing is going to be discussed by the people of Texas and will probably be a live issue in the campaign next year. The regents who have had the affairs of the university in charge have permitted so much graft or misuse of funds in the conduct of the institution that the people have about gotten tired of it, and they also see an effort manifested by the president and students who attend the university to control the legislature and force it to accede to their demands. This doesn't go very well in Texas.

It is puzzling to the average citizen to know what is the object in creating a lawless organization to help enforce the laws. We cannot believe it is necessary to violate laws in order to enforce them, or that law-abiding men have to go masked when doing nothing of which they should be ashamed. There is no place in America for the K. K. K.

Editorial Side Lights

Even the majority of those who voted for prohibition never realized that they were depriving themselves of ever getting liquor again, as it was mostly intended to do away with the saloon. I know many who were honest prohibitionists who favor beer and wine making under proper restrictions, and were the proposition put up to a direct vote of the people it would carry safe ecen in grand old Texas. The Republican party leaders are no fools and the Stanley bill was not introduced on the impulse of the moment, so the Democratic party will have to enact some such measure if they ever expect to regain control of the national government. Remember this prediction and time will tell.—Pat O'Keefe in the Dallas News.

Never was more truth couched in fewer words than in the above. Probably nine-tenth of the people of Texas as well as of many other states are opposed to saloons. The great majoritl of the people have long recognized the evils of social drinking, and under the methods provided by the people themselves the saloons were being banished. And had it not been for the war, when the people through patriotic motives were willing to surrender temporarily their rights in order to achieve a victory over their German foes, no such usurpation of authority as has been displayed by those in power would have ever been permitted or even attempted. When the legislative and executive branches of the government took advantage of the patriotism of the people in a time of national stress and put laws over them that had never received their approval, without giving the people any chance to express their will, a crime was committed in the name of morality and reform that stands as a monumental disgrace to our country. The laws enacted against the manufacture and sale of liquors, as exemplified in the Dean and Volstead acts, violate every principle of democratic government and will never be a success, because they are not backed by public sentiment. There is a vast difference between closing the saloons and entering a man's house to see whether he has a pint or a gallon of wine in his possession, and what he does with that wine. Public morality demands that the will of the people be consulted, and that before other millions are appropriated to enforce a law that a vote be taken as to whether or not the people want the law. The peace and good order of society in a country like ours demand that there be fair play. Crime is only encouraged by the enactment of laws that do not meet with the endorsement of the people. And this is written by one who has always publicly opposed saloons, and voted to close them.

WOMEN ARE NOT OVERLOOKED IN FAIR PROGRAM

Just As In Past Years, Interests Of Home-Makers Play Big Part In 1921

When Texas women begin to pour through the gates of the 1921 State Fair of Texas and International Exposition—Dallas, October 8 to 23—they will find that even to a greater extent than in past years have their interests been cared for in the proper manner. The Fair of 1921 contains many factors of vital interest to women.

The Fine Arts Building, which is practically the cultural center of the Fair, will again house this year a splendid art exhibit by American masters, and the highly interesting displays of textile art and home economic work. The main Exposition Building will have its hundreds of commercial exhibits that represent the progress of the world in home conveniences, comforts, in styles, in economies, etc. The Mexican Exhibit will have a department devoted particularly to art and handiwork. The educational encampment for the girls' clubs of the State will bring hundreds of young Texas women to the Fair, and their contests in home economics is certain to prove of interest to the host of women from all sections of Texas who watch the progress of such movements. The poultry show, the automobile show the meeting of clubs and conventions, and like things, will round out

DE LEON ARRANGING FOR A BIG FALL FAIR

(De Leon Free Press)

A spirit of co-operation has been shown all along the line since the fall fair proposition was set "agoin," manifest among the business men in providing funds to defray fair expenses, and the farmers and stockmen in promise to provide the things necessary to make a fair—exhibits. Quite a number of representative farmers and stockmen, known to be interested in the departments to which they have been assigned, will serve as chairman, or heads, of the various departments. Those secured for these places to date are as follows:

Department of Beef Cattle—J. Doss Miller, Jr.

Department of Dairy Cattle—[illegible] Farrow.

Department of Swine—Avery Jenkins.

Department of Poultry—Alvin Stringfellow.

Department of Agriculture—Bert Patterson.

Department of Horticulture—Howard Short.

Department of Pecan—Willis Clark.

Department of Horeses and Mules—W. S. Black.

Woman's Department—Mrs. Walter Griffith.

Department of Home Canning—

Department of Pet Stock—

Department of Household Relics—

The baseball park will be an ideal location for the big show. It is of easy access to the business section of town, not too far nor too near. Sheds to house the exhibits will be built around the fence, facing in. There will be a splendid arena for people to "millaround" in, and perchance there will be some sports to amuse the people. The fair will be of three days duration, and the evenings from 7:30 to 10:30 will be made attractive with amusements.

The board of general fair management will be the officers and directors of the Y. M. B. L.

At least one of the candidates for the United States Senate was considerate enough of the country newspapers to pay a large corporation to put his announcement in plate form and mail it out to the little paper fellows so they would be out only their space. Others, however, expect the papers to donate the space and also the work of putting the vote bait into type. Despite the fact that the McAllen meeting of the Texas Press Association went on record as opposing the free publication of all kinds of propaganda, we notice that quite a number of the brethren beloved published the free plate matter of one of the candidate for U. S. Senate. For one, the Herald-Record is off of it.—Hamilton Herald-Record.

FIVE MILLION MEMBERS GOAL OF FEDERATION

Atlantic City, Aug. 30.—A campaign of the American Federation of Labor for a membership of five million will be launched on Labor Day, it was announced by the executive council today.

President Gompers issued an appeal to the labor of the country to rally on that date. The appeal said "The time has come for labor to assume the aggressive."

The appeal added:

"We have held the line. Our positions are intact. It is the hour for a great forward movement. Let us set Labor Day as the day upon which we will cease holding the line and will begin to move forward in a great and resistless wave."

President Gompers will speak in the interest of the campaign in the principal cities. The campaign is due to the recent slump in membership due to unemployment. The present membership is given as 3,906,528.

FIGHTING BOLL WEEVIL PAID FARMER LIVING NEAR DUBLIN

Dublin, Texas, Aug. 28.—Walter Fulford, former county commissioner, business man and farmer, is thoroughly convinced that it pays to fight the boll weevil. Mr. Fulford owns a farm one mile west of Dublin and last year from seventy acres he gathered seven bales of cotton without having made any special fight on the weevil and using only ordinary methods of cultivation. This year he has only forty-five acres of the same land in cotton and has already picked four bales, has at least three more open and grown bolls sufficient to insure two possibly three more bales. Some of the methods used in his fight on the weevil are pans containing kerosene oil attached to the cultivator run through the cotton, catching the weevil and punctured squares; germacide dip applied to the stalk, the scent of which is said to run the weevil out , and poisoning with calcium arsenate by use of a powder duster. Twenty-five acres on which the latter was used is making a third of a bale to the acre.

BROWN ANTS MAKE SHORT WORK OF BOLL WEEVIL

Bonham, Texas, Aug. 28.—R. A. Risser, Sr., of this city plants a number of things in the back yard at his store, among them being some fine cotton. A while back there was no cotton on the stalks or anything to make cotton out of, as the boll weevils had gotten everything in sight. A lot of brown ants have appeared on the stalks since that time and they have been busy eating up what looks like larvae or eggs, but which, under a microscope appear to be young grubs. The result of the work of the ants has been such that the cotton stalks have blooms, squares and bolls on them, and Mr. Risser, who is an authority on cotton, says an acre like his little patch would make a bale of cotton. The Board of Trade is so interested in the ants that it has wired A. & M. College to send an expert here to view the work. The opinion of many is that the ants are the answer to the weevil.

The Speech of True Faith.

A traveler who believed himself to be the sole survivor of a shipwreck on a cannibal isle hid for three days in terror of his life. Finally, driven out by hunger, he discovered a thin wisp of smoke rising from a point inland. Crawling there cautiously on his hands and knees, he arrived just in time to hear a raucous voice demand:

"Why the blimety-blankety-blank did you plan that blank-blanked card?"

"Praise the Lord!" gasped the survivor, kneeling devoutly. "They are Christians."

Business Methods.

When the agent brought Mrs. Tarley her fire insurance policy he remarked that it would be well for her to make her first payment at once.

"How much will it be?" she asked.

"About $100. Wait a minute and I'll find the exact amount."

"Oh, how tiresome!" she exclaimed. "Tell the company to let it stand and deduct it from what they will owe me when the house burns down."

Ray Hoff returned Sunday from a trip to "cool Colorado" and says it was indeed a most pleasant trip. His sister, Miss Bess is still traveling in that state.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists 75c.
